Presenting for Excellence

How many times do you sit through presentations that are full of text-filled slides and complicated charts and graphs? Besides being tedious, how much information do you really take away from these presentations?

The Presenting for Excellence workshop will show you how to prepare and deliver a presentation that people will pay attention to, remember, and act upon. This two-hour workshop will show you how to focus your message so that the important points are clear and memorable. You’ll learn how to design visually pleasing slides that convey your key points effectively, and develop your presentation skills to enable you to effectively present your message.
