Are you up for a challenge?

Wells Fargo is inviting you to put your analytics knowledge to the test!

We're challenging students at select schools across the nation to come up with an analytics solution to a marketplace question. The details will be shared when the Challenge kicks off on November 9, 2015.

The Challenge will be hosted virtually November 9 – 30, 2015. Students will have three weeks to develop concepts around the Challenge statement.

What’s in it for you?

• The top-five winners, selected by a panel of judges, will each be awarded a Grand Prize of $2,000.
• The winners will be announced during the week of December 14, 2015.
• All five winners will be recognized in late February or early March 2016 at the Wells Fargo Analytics Summit hosted in San Francisco.
• Each winner will receive a trip for one to attend the Wells Fargo Analytics Summit in San Francisco.

TO ENTER: You must first register on MindSumo.com to participate in the Challenge. If you are already a MindSumo registrant and a Student at one of the Participating Universities, you will be directed to the Wells Fargo Challenge after signing in. The Challenge business objective is for a judging panel to select five students that have developed a repeatable process that identifies, classifies, and extracts the underlying drivers of consumer financial or bank-related conversations and comments in social media from a data set that is provided as part of the Challenge entry parameters available on the MindSumo webpage for the Wells Fargo Challenge (“Challenge Website”) starting November 9, 2015. Students will be required to answer two Challenge questions relating to the business objective and provide an analytic report of 1,500 words or less (excluding code and documentation) that is structured as outlined in the “Challenge Questions & Key Deliverables” section of the Challenge Rules (the “Solution”).

JUDGING CRITERIA: Solutions will be judged by up to two panels of judges based on the responses to the two Challenge questions according to the following criteria. See the Challenge Website for more details and examples of social media conversations.

- Originality and Innovation: 10 points
- Quality of analytic report overall: 10 points
- Methodology and Approach: 20 points
- Business Objective addressed by the analysis: 5 points
- Data discussion: 10 points
- Documented code: 15 points
- Insight(s) — Analytics and Quantitative results: 20 points
- Summary of analysis: 5 points
- Appendix: 5 points

PRIZES: Five (5) winners will each receive $2000 cash, a 3-day/2-night trip for one to San Francisco to attend a Wells Fargo Analytics Summit in late February/early March 2016. Trip includes roundtrip coach airfare, deluxe hotel accommodations, and a $500 Wells Fargo Visa® Gift Card for travel expenses. Potential winners will be notified by telephone and email by Wells Fargo the week of December 14, 2015, and required to complete (according to the instructions provided) Challenge paperwork to verify eligibility and agree to a background check in order to be declared a winner.

GENERAL: Challenge is subject to the full Official Rules. See rules on Challenge Website for more details including complete eligibility, data set, Challenge questions, full judging criteria, and prize redemption requirements. Void where prohibited.
