About Fulbright: Excellence in scholarship, a commitment to diversity, and community service are the hallmarks of the Fulbright Program. In 1946, as the junior senator from Arkansas, J. William Fulbright introduced legislation to start a new international educational exchange program with an ambitious goal – to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries. The Fulbright Program now operates in 155 countries, and has supported over 300,000 students and scholars.

American Scholars

Visiting Research Chairs for American Scholars in Canada: (US$25,000 for one semester) Fulbright Canada Visiting Research Chairs allow prominent and promising scholars, and experienced professionals to conduct research, develop partnerships, and guest lecture at select partner institutions. There are over 40 Visiting Research Chairs at 22 participating Canadian universities in the following fields: Arts and Humanities, Business, Economics, Education, Environment and Sustainability, Food Safety and Security, Globalization and Development, Governance, Health, Legal Studies, North American Studies, Policy Studies, Science, and Society and Culture. For a complete list visit www.fulbright.ca.

Traditional Awards for Scholars: (US$12,500 per semester) This award allows emerging and established scholars, post-doctoral researchers, and experienced professionals to conduct research, teach, or undertake a combination of these activities. The Traditional Award for scholars is open to academics in all disciplines, and may be held at any university, research center, think tank, or government agency in Canada.

Distinguished Chairs Program: (US$35,000 per semester) Fulbright Canada, in partnership with the Norlien Foundation, has established a new academic program in the area of brain science, addiction, and family wellness. Extraordinary American researchers can conduct research, guest lecture, or do a combination of activities at one of Alberta's three research-intensive universities. Participating universities include: University of Alberta, University of Calgary, and University of Lethbridge.

Fulbright-Carlos Rico Award for North American Studies: (US$12,500 per semester in Canada, plus US$2,300 per month in Mexico) The intent of this award is to enhance collaboration among a community of scholars working on issues of relevance to the special trilateral relationship among the United States, Mexico and Canada. The grantee may teach, engage in collaborative research, or combine both activities in the grantee's area of specialization. Awards include a health benefit plan, visa services, and enrichment opportunities. Additional benefits in Mexico include maintenance and travel allowances.

Post-Doctoral Research Awards: (US$30,000 for one academic year, 9 months; or US$50,000 for a full calendar year, 12 months) These awards offer post-doctoral students an opportunity to spend an academic year at Concordia University or UNBC, for one of three post-doctoral awards in Preventative Health; Technology, Industry, and the Environment; or Northern Issues.
